Facebook Twitter LinkedIn Pinterest Integrative Medicine Art, dance, and music all appeal to a person's senses and may be used as therapy in many situations. Each of these modalities helps a person express himself or herself and helps distract and potentially improve from the disease or illness: Art therapy. This can help a person deal with emotional conflicts, become aware of issues, and express unspoken concerns. Art therapy includes painting, sculpting, drawing, and any other form of art. Dance therapy. This helps improve body image and self-esteem, decrease fears, express anger, decrease body tensions, reduce chronic pain, and more. Music therapy. Often used in hospitals and other care centers, this is an effective relaxant for infants and children. It may also be used with burn victims, cancer patients, cerebral palsy patients, and patients with other brain disorders and neurological conditions such as Alzheimer's. Resources for more information on these therapies: It's always easier to learn a song that you're already familiar with, so what would be better than to entertain yourself with your favorite holiday tunes while you practice? The following Christmas songs are well-known tunes that have been arranged to sight-read easily for beginner and intermediate pianists. The following sheet music is available in printer-friendly PNG or JPEG image formats, or may be downloaded as one PDF file and comes pre-packaged with lyrics. This carol is famously known as being set to the tune of the traditional English Greensleeves. Written in the key of F# minor, this original arrangement travels the octaves and experiments with texture, so it works best as a solo piano piece, but lyrics have still been included: This is a tranquil D major arrangement of the beloved Austrian classic, Stille Nacht, and a worldwide favorite. The sheet music includes English and German lyrics and is suitable for any playing-level: Another worldwide favorite that's also known as Adeste Fideles, this chord-based version in G major is simple and to-the-point. The lyrics below are available in Latin, English, French, Spanish and German: Learn this calm, yet bright arrangement of the carol's popular Mueller variation, set in the key of D major. Perfect for the intermediate pianist or the beginner pianist who is comfortable with rhythm in the bass: Choose from two playing levels of this English carol: A simple arrangement, designed for the beginner or as a background for vocals, and an elaborate, intermediate tune which boasts fuller chords and a bit more rhythmic freedom. Both versions are written in the key of D major: "The First Noel" Sheet Music & History Chord Progression & English Lyrics This may be the most mysterious-sounding of all the Christmas carols. In this arrangement, the bass line is simple to bring out the medieval qualities of its melody, so it's appropriate for all skill levels. This arrangement is written in the key of E minor: A wintery ode to the evergreen, this tune originated in Germany and went on to become one of the most recognizable Christmas songs the world over. Choose between a simple piano/vocal score and an intermediate arrangement with more frills. Both of these scores are written in the key of F major: "O Tannenbaum" Sheet Music & History Chord Progression & Bilingual Lyrics This peaceful, triumphant carol is among the most beloved in the Anglosphere as well as in French-speaking areas, where it began. This slightly elaborate yet calm arrangement is written in the key of F major and includes lyrics in both French and English: "O Holy Night" Sheet Music & History Chord Progression & Bilingual Lyrics Playing the piano can be an enjoyable experience, no matter your level of expertise. When playing the piano, several different pieces of information come together to create the music that you hear. Muscle coordination and dexterity allow pianists to play with different dynamics, articulations, and speeds. Music symbols are helpful tools in music notation that allow the composer to express how the music should sound. Note pitch, rhythm, articulation and dynamic are a few of the many symbols used in a composition that indicate how to play the music. The vertical position of note heads on the staff denotes pitch, while the duration of a note's sound is expressed with note color, note stems, and stem flags. In music, notes indicate sound. But sometimes, silence is a part of music too. A music rest is a symbol that represents silence or the absence of a music note. Similar to music notes, music rests are written in various styles to show their different rhythmic lengths. An accidental is a musical symbol placed beside a note that creates a change in the note's pitch. Accidentals include sharps, flats, and naturals. Double-accidentals include the double-sharp and double-flat. Learn about the different types of music accidentals in order to identify them correctly. The key signature is a series of accidentals written at the beginning of a music staff and is used to express the key in which a song is written. In other words, it tells you which notes will have sharps or flats throughout a musical composition. Key signatures can have single or multiple sharps or flats. The time signature looks like a fraction and appears at the beginning of a piece of music. Time signatures organize beats into measures and work alongside the tempo to create the rhythm of a song. Sometimes, a single piece of music can contain several time signatures, indicating a change in the beat structure. The tempo defines the speed of the music and is measured by the beats per minute (BPM). The BPM of a song may be written using metronome marks or Italian tempo terms that are closely associated with a metronome range. Some music pieces detail a precise metronome marking, while others use a broad command. An understanding of both tempo and BPM is helpful in music performance. Symbols and lines placed around noteheads and note groups change the way they sound and create a relationship with the surrounding notes. This concept is called "articulation," and is modified in piano music using a variety of articulation marks. Note ornaments are used to simplify the notation of certain techniques, which would otherwise complicate and crowd the sheet music. For example, a glissando is when you run your finger across the entire keyboard, hitting every note along the way. To write this out in notation would be tedious for the composer and the pianist. Instead, note ornaments and embellishments help abbreviate the notation of the desired effect. Musical dynamics control the volume of a song and may be signified by words, symbols or both. Dynamics mark the relative changes in intensity and do not express precise decibel levels. Understanding the various dynamic and volume commands help bring expressive volume elements to the music. A repeat bar is a musical symbol that resembles a final barline with two dots in the middle staff spaces. A passage written between two repeat bars will be played at least two times, and any variant of this will be explained using volta brackets, or "time bars." Repeat signs and volta brackets are common commands in music composition. Segno and coda marks belong to a system used to express complex repetitions which cannot be expressed using simple repeat barlines. They may seem tricky at first, but rest assured, they make sheet music much simpler and at times can help avoid several page-turns. Navigating segno and coda marks becomes simple once they are familiar. Musical symbols such as 8va and 15ma indicate that a note or passage will be played in a different octave than in the one they are written. These commands make it easier to read very high or low notes that would otherwise be written using ledger lines. Learn to recognize these common octave commands.
